GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say in his old age, "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the profits to wealth And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as the busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

OREGON.

Republican primaries to nominate candidates for city officers, were held in Salem last night.

La Grande Sentinel of the 16th, puts Grant's majority at 2,000. Add 1,500 and you have it.

La Grande precinct in Union county, is the banner precinct of the State. It went unanimously for Grant and Wilson.

It is reported that Cove has a majority of one over La Grande for county seat of Union county, but that the election will probably be contested.

A Chinaman is reported to have been murdered on the road from Walla Walla to La Grande last week, and one of his countrymen has been arrested on suspicion

Rev. I D Driver, during his late trip to Eastern Oregon, collected $192 51 for the American Bible Society, $232 for the Oregon Bible Society, traveling 500 miles and preaching 18 times in twenty two days.

Wm. Andrews, sent to the penitentiary for two years from Umatilla county, arrived at that institution last Wednesday. William was sick, (of honest work) and thought he ought to take some thing, so he took a horse.

The La Grande Sentinel says: "Owing to the terrible cold and storms the stage has been delayed in making two trips, but the energy of the drivers here has overcome obstacles, and everything is running regular."

The following is the way the Epizootics affect a man, according to the Statesman's reporter. He says We met a man yesterday, and we said, "How do you do, Mr Smith?" He replied: "Hy dame is dot Smid, id is Judas; Dadiel Judas. I've god a bad gold id my head. You see I gad dot dalk piald. By volks have all god it. By dabers have all god it. Everybody's god id." It was the "epizootics" that ailed our friend Jones—Daniel Jones.

From the Democrat we learn that the races at Baker City were only reasonably well attended that on Monday the race was a single dash of a mile, free for all horses, for a purse of $200. Le Buff entered Buckskin; J. M. Swift, Dasher, and Easterbrooks, Gray Eagle. In drawing for positions, Dasher was first, Buckskin second, and Eagle, third. Buckskin won the race and money by three feet. Time, 1 58; Dasher second, and Eagle way behind Considerable money changed hands on the race, the pools amounting to some $800. Buckskin was the favorite.

The following is from the La Grande Sentinel of last Monday: "The past week has been a memorable one in Eastern Oregon. Earlier than ever before snow made its appearance on the Blue Mountains to the depth of six inches, but a short respite was granted by the elements. On Sunday last the snow and wind started in with a vim. It continued snowing until on the mountains about sixteen inches had fallen, while here in the valley we had plenty and to spare. The storm, as near as we can learn, is universal. There is good sleighing from White's at the foot of the mountains to the Dalles, at which latter point on Monday last there was nine inches. At Walla Walla on Tuesday there was six inches. At Portland it rained in torrents on Sunday evening and on Monday evening there was good sleighing on the snow which had fallen on Monday. At Baker City the sleighing was good. Grand Ronde has had less snow than any of the points named, the depth when not drifted, not exceeding perhaps, three inches.

THE TERRITORIES.

Stylish buggies and spirited horses are increasing in Olympia.

Olympia has a club called the "Merry Bachelors." A man is expelled for no offense except getting married.

A course of lectures will be delivered in Boise City the coming winter Judge Whitson will open the course on the first Wednesday in December.

Whitman county, W. T, lying between the Snake and Columbia rivers, is being rapidly settled. It already contains between 2,000 and 3,000 inhabitants.

The Colonist says the flying of the new cable wire from San Juan to Lopez Island was completed on the 10th inst. and the first through message was sent on that day.

A large number of indictments have been found by the grand jury now in session at Olympia, mostly for violation of the gambling act and Revenue laws of the Territory.

Washington Territory is shipping cattle, sheep and hay to Victoria in considerable quantities. $8,140 worth of these articles were landed by one vessel making two trips last week.

Henry Andrews, who shot Mr. Soigman the policeman at Olympia, several weeks ago, has been required to give further bail amounting to $5,000 which he failed to find and so is in jail.

The Reporter says the Northern Pacific Railway Company will have their land on the sixty-five miles of completed road in Washington Territory on the market soon, as it is being surveyed and platted with that purpose in view.

The Seattle Intelligencer last week took possession of a splendid new building erected expressly for it. The Intelligencer is evidently thriving. Such a paper deserves to thrive—is sure to thrive in any intelligent and appreciative community.

The Seattle Intelligencer of the 18th says, Rev. Mr. DeVore, of the M. E. Church, and presiding elder for the Puget Sound District, arrived in this city on Wednesday last. During the latter part of last week he was engaged in holding a quarterly meeting on White river, in this county.

An employee at the Seattle Coal Mines, named James Brannon, met with his death very suddenly from internal hemorrhage on Thursday of last week. Upon getting up in the morning he was seized with a violent fit of coughing, during which he ruptured a blood vessel and immediately died. He was a native of Ireland, and about thirty-five years of age.

In King county, W. T., 826 votes were polled at the recent election, and in Thurston county 815. Two years ago Thurston county cast 614 votes for Garfielde and Mix, and King county 582. This year King county takes the lead, and polls the largest vote of any county in the Territory, except Walla Walla, she having gained over two hundred votes during the past two years.

The Idaho Statesman of the 16th says "The driver from Owyhee brings news of the robbery of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express office in Silver City on Wednesday night. He says they made no entrance under the floor by digging away the dirt, and pryed up the floor and stole the box which had been put up for this place There was $600 in coin that Charley Hager, stage agent, was sending over to this place, and how much more he did not learn, as he came away early in the morning.

The Statesman, published at Boise City, has the following "The case of Boyakin vs. the Ada County Publishing Company was proceeding yesterday before a jury, and undetermined. It is quite an important case, because there are some thirty or forty defendants who have been sorely fleeced by that notable newspaper once known as the Standard. It is pretty hard to pay for a dead horse the second time, but those who dance must pay the fiddler. It is quite certain the fool killer isn't dead yet."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Nelson, Minister to Mexico, had a long interview with the President this afternoon in relation to the affairs of that country. He spoke in praise of the new Constitution,—particularly of its intelligence and desire to preserve and strengthen the friendship now existing between this country and Mexico There seems to be no obstruction in the way of concluding the new convention, or extending the time for disposing of the remaining claims before the United States and Mexican Mixed Commission, the limitation of which will expire under the present Convention, in July next

It is stated that President Tejada is anxious for such extension, and will appoint an agent, in good faith, to carry out the design of Guzman, by whose action the proceedings for some weeks were interrupted, and preliminary steps are already taken for a new Convention.

MADRID, Nov 20—It is officially announced to-day that King Amadeus passed a bad night. Rheumatism and fever continue.

A band of 35 masked men destroyed the telegraph wires and threw a train off the track between the towns of Almunaca and Abocetta in the province of Murcia

Armed bands, supposed to be Republicans, have appeared between Perignan and Bonigola, in the province of Valencia. There are also revolutionary symptoms at Alcoy in the same province. The Civil Guards have been concentrated at Almonia in Andalusia.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Martin Bulger will contest the seat of C. C Merrill in the Board of Fire Commissioners

Among other reports about the coup, it is now reported that the Lieut Harpending diamond fields are about twenty miles south of Green River Station, Colorado

Wamblitz shot himself because he drew a blank in the Havana lottery

Simon Levy has been sent to Stockton.

The wife of a prominent physician in this city took chloroform for neuralgia and died from the effects of it Name not yet divulged.

LATER.—The lady who took chloroform and died from the effects of the dose, was the wife of Dr. H. F Hardy. The case was purely accidental. The lady was greatly esteemed by all who know her.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The winter appears to have fairly set in, snow lying to a depth of seven inches.

The bridge over Nanaimo river, is completed, and looks exceedingly well—a credit to the contractor, (Mr. Finney)

The Freemasons of Nanaimo are projecting the erection of a spacious hall, which, it is intended, shall be completed by the first of May next.

Coal is coming out of the Douglas pit at the rate of from 150 to 200 tons a day. The other mines are adding their quota to the aggregate out put.

The Onward failed to reach Yale last trip in consequence of the low stage of water. She stopped at Cheam, and the passengers went forward by canoes.

Business at Yale and on the wagon road is brisk. There are several inches of snow at Cache Creek, and sleighing is good to Barkerville. Stock is looking remarkably well.

Mr. Archibald Macnab, of the Canadian Pacific surveying party, who was supposed to have been lost last winter, during his perilous journey along the north shore of Lake Superior, has just turned up all safe.

The Colonist says. Canadian goods for Victoria consignees, ordered three months and sent two months ago, have not yet come to hand. The most vexatious delays occur on the railroad with Canadian goods destined for British Columbia.

An Indian woman was kidnapped from Victoria last week while in a state of intoxication, and her tribal relatives are highly indignant. She was taken on board a Greek vessel, at that time lying in the Royal Roads and bound for China.

An air gas patent is now in litigation in London. As its name implies gas is manufactured from air by a process which dispenses with coal altogether, and the new illuminator is said to be infinitely purer and better, beside being much cheaper than the ordinary coal gas. The new gas is also said to be applicable for heat and power, and to threaten to supersede our steam engines. There seems to be no question whatever as to the importance of the discovery, the law case turning entirely on the validity of the patent and the remuneration claimed by the rival inventors.

The Duluth Tribune, wishing to compliment the grocery wares of a resident of that little town, does it in this style: "He has a splendid article of cracked wheat, or 'gritz,' which, as an article of dirt can't be beaten." The groceryman at once countermanded the order to send a sack to the editor's house.

A relief train, which started Saturday, with two engines attached, had, at last accounts, succeeded in getting over about forty miles. Grave apprehensions are felt that the men will be reduced to the limits of starvation before aid can reach them.

Death of Prominent Citizens.

MAUCH CHUNK, Pa., N

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING NOVEMBER 22 1872

Our Road to the Sea

The natural outlet to the sea for the products of Oregon is the Columbia river What ever may be said of the magnificent harbors of the Puget Sound – and we are not disposed to think more has been said than the facts justify—the Columbia river will never be ignored in the commerce of this northern coast The merchandise from abroad will be carried in the ships as nearly as possible to the agricultural and manufacturing districts whence cargoes are to be obtained for the outward voyage The agricultural resources of Oregon, and her adaptation to various manufacturing enterprises are such that her commerce, not inconsiderable in its infancy must eventually be quite extensive The products of the farm, which constitute at present the bulk of our exports, can be augmented to an almost unlimited extent Not one tenth part of the arable land of the western part of the State has been brought under cultivation, and that which is cultivated is not made to yield nearly so much as it would under more thorough and economical methods of treatment In that section of the State lying east of the Cascade mountains, besides extensive deposits of the precious metals and valuable ores, and enough of land suitable for tillage to supply the local demand of a large population, there is pasturage for flocks and herds innumerable The dense population with which the western valleys are destined to be filled, will procure beef and mutton for its tables, and hides, wool, etc , for its manufactures, from the eastern part Thus will the products of every section of the State finally reach the vessels that are to carry them away, from the western portion. And it is hardly possible that these products will pay the expense of railway transportation for one or two hundred miles in order to reach the vessels, when that expense can be wholly avoided

The entrance to the Columbia river is shown by the actual experiences of navigation, as well as by the results of the United States coast survey, to be as free from difficulty and danger as are those to most of the Atlantic sea ports And when the vessel has passed into the river she is within hailing distance of the greatest producing district of the State—we had almost said of the entire coast—so far as natural adaptations are concerned. Not only is this true but a great proportion of the country east and west of the mountains, is accessible by water, which always furnishes a cheaper means of transportation than any other These advantages will not be overlooked. The Columbia river is the natural channel for the commerce of Oregon, and Portland or some other point that can be reached from the sea through that channel, will, in all human probability, continue to be entrepot of the whole State

There may—probably will—grow up on Puget Sound a large city The principal portion of the traffic between the United States and Eastern Asia may, as many persons predict it will, pass through the straights of Juan de Fuca and over the Northern Pacific Railway. This with the trade of the extensive region of country north of the Columbia river that will be naturally tributary to the terminal point on the Sound, is ample backing for a great sea port city. But by nature's own highways, the Columbia and Wallamet rivers, and their affluants, the future commerce of the State will be controlled.

The Reform School

The necessity for a Reform School in this city becomes more pressing every day. There are scores of vicious boys about the city, who live nobody knows where or how, having broken away from the restraints of their parents or guardians, and are engaged in the commission of all manner of petty offences They are educating themselves in the school of the streets, for careers of crime and misery, to end in the penitentiary, or, perchance, on the gallows Some such; that were on the streets of this city a few years ago, and whom we remember well, have already formed their way to the State prison.

Humanity as well as Christianity demands that something be done to save these children from the life of degradation and crime into which they are going They are only made worse by being committed to the common jails with old and hardened criminals The officers of the law, sensible of this, are moved by sentiments of pity in many instances, to overlook offences committed by these boys which would send an adult to prison Thus does the very instinct of of mercy in those who are made by law the conservators of the public morals, and the good order of society, lend its influence to the encouragement of vice, by making those youthful criminals feel secure in their evil practices.

A very large majority of these children might be saved by an organized and systematic effort. Reform schools are no longer an experiment. They have been thoroughly tried, and their efficiency has been fully proved. Reformation, while the subject of it yet young and his habits unformed, or at least, not permanently fixed upon him, is not the impossible thing that it is usually found to be with older persons Very many more than half of all the children committed to the best organized and conducted reform schools, when they go out into the would again pursue virtuous courses and become useful members of society This the official reports and investigations of such institutions show to be true.

Our morning contemporary is evidently a believer in Free Trade, and upon grounds much higher than any mere question of revenue, or the right to purchase in the cheapest market It is to be adopted as a panacea, not for commercial and political ills alone, but likewise for moral infirmities Among the desirable results to flow from the abolition of our present mode of raising revenue, and the adoption of the direct taxation plan, we are told that "If the revenue requisite to the support of the Government were collected directly from the people, by direct tax upon property at a fair valuation," many of the "sources of fraud, corruption and demoralization would be banished from the land, and the public morals greatly improved, because multiplied temptations now in existence would be abolished "

We cannot assent to this proposition The revenue must be collected, and in order to collect it there must be agents of the Government who have the handling of it To what extent would the number of persons employed in and about the collection of the revenue be reduced by abolishing the duties which are collected at a few ports and sending a man into every county and precinct throughout the United States, to assess the value of the property for the purposes of Federal taxation? And then how many collectors would be necessary? Add all the Custom House employes and all the ship owners and all the smugglers together, and the number will be insignificant in comparison with the number of persons to whom the temptation to dishonest dealing, would be presented by the direct taxation plan

Literary Chat

The first volume of Froude's History of Ireland will be placed before the world in a short time, by Scribner, Armstrong & Co The work is said to be written in a style as vigorous and independent as his History of England

The regular crop of illustrated books for the Christmas season, without which Christmas would not be Christmas is appearing. The Eastern papers say the harvest is unusually large, and the artistic features superior to those of former years The annual return of the holidays has been for a quarter of a century accompanied by a great variety of these pleasant publications The style of illustration has changed from time to time as the fashion of the day seemed to demand and the progress of photographic art has banished the line engravings of the olden time, so expressive of conscientious painstaking, and withal so accurate in spite of their manifest inaccuracy The illustrated Christmas book is an 'institution,' and like most of our American institutions, may be improved though not supplanted One can no more think of the approach of this season of festivities without calling up visions of beautiful 'Enoch Ardens' and 'Maud Mullers' and a score or two of their associates, all done up in morocco with illuminated head letters and the most beautiful of illustrations, than he can think of the jovial old patron saint of the Christmas without seeing the laugh in his twinkling little eyes, as he blows away the smoke from

The stump of a pipe he holds at his feet!

Dr Lubke is before the American critics again with a work on Art He is translated by F E Bunnett, and his book, a "History of Sculpture from the Earliest Ages down to the Present Time, is pronounced greatly superior to its predecessor, "Historic Art, " in that it is more carefully written, and attempts less in proportion to the amount of space taken up—or, rather, takes up more space in proportion to the amount of matter This enables the writer to be more thorough and exhaustive, which is necessary to the success of a work upon such a subject

De Tocqueville gave the world a semi historical examination of Democracy in America, which is the admiration of Americans Sir Thomas Erskine May, of England, is engaged upon a work on Democracy in Continental Europe His friends promise a great book from him Possibly it is easier to write well upon the social forces of foreign nations than upon those of one's own country These two instances would seem to indicate that such is the case—assuming the book of Sir Thomas to be what it is expected

The papers are full of Mr Tennyson's new poem, 'Gareth and Lynette ' Copies were sent around to the newspapers of London, on its first appearance, with a caveat to reviewers against quoting more than thirty lines of the poem, consecutively, on pain of answering for infringement on the copyright This restriction raised something of a hubbub, but considering there are only one hundred and thirty six pages in all, the caution was, perhaps, not unreasonable The London correspondent of an Eastern paper thus describes the reception of the work by the press of that city The critics are amusingly at variance The Times "confidently declares ' that "he who does not find great pleasure and delight in reading these Idylls can have but a very partial love and narrow appreciation of real poetry, ' and in saying as much the Times condemns the critic of the Daily News, who says the world is getting tired of Arthurian Idylls, and who sees no particular reason that the genius of Mr Tennyson's tales in verse should end anywhere

We have the same scenery, pretty much the same characters and altogether the same style of incidents, only altered a little by another turn of the kaleidoscope The Arthurian combinations are as endless as the groupings of a piece of mosaic poetry, and Mr Tennyson, indeed sometimes appears to us to be producing a sort of laborious, beautiful, but not very interesting tapestry, with figures as of white moonlight appearing against a background of yellow mist

The Post says that one of the new Idylls at least 'equals in grace, in tender sentiment in delicate satire and in those momentary lifts ings of the veil which hides from us the spiritual part of man's nature and its connection with things unseen anything which Tennyson has hitherto given to us ' The Telegraph finds that the poet has 'lost nothing of his old cunning of stately and melodious verse, or of his exquisite art of narrative but, nevertheless, he has clouded us with delicacies and made us impatient of any but the best work from his hands of which best work is not 'Gareth and Lynette.' Here and there the Advertiser finds flashes of the old fancy and imagination, but (it adds) "we should not augur the most brilliant career for an unknown writer were this his maiden work We should say that it was a very skilful imitation of Tennyson "

The periodical installment of rumors of changes in the Cabinet is received This time Secretary Delano is about to sit down in the seat that Boutwell has not vacated, and a strong pressure is brought to bear to bring about that result—all of which is probably sheer gossip It appears pretty certain how ever, that Secretary Fish has determined to retire from the Cabinet and from public life on the 4th of next March

Mrs A J Dunlway, editor of the New Northwest, announces that she will deliver a series of Sunday evening lectures upon moral religious, scientific and social subjects, commencing on next Sunday evening These lectures will be at the Oro Fino Theater Seats free The subject of the first lecture is, The Christ of Nazareth and the Christ of Christendom

The Postmaster General advertises in the New York Times of November 9th, for bids for conveying the mails upon four hundred and sixty eight different routes The advertisement fills over twelve columns of the paper and is in fine print solid Bids are to be received till February 5th, 1873

Calvin B McDonald is editing an evening paper in Oakland, California which has been recently started It is called The Torch light and is distributed gratis It is devoted to the interests of the city of Oakland

The Missouri Democrat has a total of the vote of 107 out of the 114 counties of that State, which shows a majority of 23 180 for Greeley His majority in the State is estimated at about 21,500.

Arrangements have been made for a winter mail service from Walla Walla to Hootenai in British Columbia

FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 22, 1872.

CITY.

LUTHERAN CHURCH.—The Lutheran Church at the corner of Fifth and Taylor streets, is now undergoing a series of alterations and improvements in the interior. When this edifice was erected about three years ago, the ceiling, instead of being constructed horizontal, was made in a concave shape. By this means the plastering was a number of feet higher at the edges and in the center, than it would otherwise have been. The rafters of the building are very long, and in consequence of the style of the ceiling are too insecurely braced to retain, without springing from their original position, the immense weight of the roof. Some time ago cracks were observed in numerous places along the moulding at the sides of the room, and the plastering commenced to fall away. At first it was supposed that the shattering plaster was owing to the weather; but it became so bad at length that the matter was investigated by carpenters. Examination resulted in the discovery of the fact that the roof bracings had begun to give away, and the rafters were gradually pushing apart the walls of the building. The sides of the edifice were slowly spreading asunder, seams and cracks appeared in many places, and the roof had "bulged" up so far in the middle, that the disproportion could be noticed from the street. As a matter of course the impression gained footing among the congregation, that the building was insecure, and it was found necessary to make some alterations to the structure to render it safe. Several workmen have been engaged for the last week or more in tearing away the old concave ceiling preparatory to the work which is to follow. Strong joists will be placed across the building every few feet, the opposite ends resting on the frame at the eaves, and braced in such a manner as to hold the walls securely together, and resist the pressure of the rafters. The walls have been drawn back to their original vertical position by means of powerful tackle, and will be held there until the joists have been put in and the roof braced. When this is accomplished, lathing and the plaster will follow. The ceiling is to be perfectly horizontal—an equal distance throughout its area from the floor. The church will be ready for the resumption of divine services in a few weeks.

TRINITY CHURCH ORGAN.—With the exception of a few windows, the new Trinity Church will be ready for the holding of divine service in the course of two weeks at the farthest. The glass and sash being of superb design and elegant workmanship, were manufactured expressly in England some time ago. The work has, no doubt, been completed, and the window frames on the way from London. At the latest advices, the material had not been received in New York. So much delay will attend the shipment of the work, that the windows will probably not arrive for some months yet. In the meatime the large Church organ, which arrived some weeks ago, is still in an unopened package at the new Church. To put the complicated instrument up will require an experienced organist about two weeks. In view of the prospective delay, occasioned by the non arrival of the windows, which are necessary to inclose that portion of the building where the organ is to stand, it is quite likely that temporary sash will be placed in the window ornaments. This will enable Mr. DePrang, under whose supervision the organ is to be put up, to send to San Francisco for Mr. McGraith, the competent and experienced builder, and have the instrument placed in a condition to use. Should this course be determined upon, the public will soon be regaled with a series of concerts at the Church.

GUNNER GUILD.—A meeting was held last Monday evening by the members composing the Church Guild, for Multnomah county. The organization was completed by the selection of Mr. W. H. Effinger, Vice President; Mr. J. S. Reed, Secretary; Mr. Chas. H. Dodd, Treasurer; and the following Executive Committee: Rev. Messrs. Novis, Burton and Bonnell, and Messrs. Hewitt, Gaston, Dodd, and Wallace. By resolution of the Guild, Rev. Mr. Rosenberg and Dr. Wilson were requested to act with the committee for the coming year. The Constitution and By Laws provided that the Bishop of the Diocese shall be ex officio, the President of this Guild and of its committees. It shall elect annually a Vice President, a Secretary, a Treasurer, and an Executive Committee to be composed of three clergymen and four laymen. For membership persons shall be proposed in open meeting, and no objections being raised, they shall become members by signing the foregoing preamble and those articles of agreement. The Executive Committee shall annually appoint seven standing committees, namely: Missionary Committee; Committee on Public Institutions; on Seamen and Boatmen; on Sick and Needy; on Sunday-schools; on Literature; and on Chinese.

HAS RELENTED.—Now, indeed, has the winter of our discontent been slightly changed. The clerk has relented and inaugurated a little change in his programme. It is true the change has not been such a one as could have been desired, or even expected, but is an improvement on last week. Mercury, the volatile chap, has taken rooms about the second story, and will remain there until he is compelled to take up his quarters in the basement. Snow has all disappeared except on the summit of Mount Hood, while our dashing and skating prospects have gone where the woodbine twineth—cloudy, rain prospects and fog, without a smile or glimmer from old Sol's phiz.

BRIDGE PLASTERED.—A number of plasterers are engaged in adding a second edition of lime and hair to the interior of the Clarendon Hotel. A large proportion of the plastering cracked in consequence of the settling of the building, and subsequently fell off the ceiling and walls. Now that the wood has become "seasoned," and the foundation rendered solid and secure, the building will be plastered again throughout. Some alterations are also being made to the former arrangements of the rooms. Renovation appears to be going on from the first story to the attic.

AT THE LOCKS.—During the present weather, work on the Canal and Locks at Oregon City, is being pushed with an almost desperate activity. It is now confidently expected to have every thing completed and in a condition to admit of the passage of boats up and down the river within the time required by law—January 1st, 1873. With such weather as will admit of constant operations, all the masonry work will be completed in three weeks from date. This will finish all the heavy work, and leave only a small amount of work to be completed.

SHOULDER DISLOCATED.—A man named Smith Main, residing at Vancouver, was thrown from a fractious horse yesterday, and had his shoulder dislocated. Main was slightly intoxicated at the time and made several attempts to mount the animal before he succeeded. When he took his seat in the saddle, the horse started off at a furious pace. Main lost his balance and fell to the ground. He was picked up in an unconscious condition, and a physician summoned. On examining his injuries his shoulder was found to be dislocated.

FREIGHT RECEIVED.—Freights are being received at the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf for Walla Walla. From this fact it is to be presumed that the navigation on the Upper Columbia has not yet closed. The recent moderation here has, no doubt, produced a favorable effect on the prospects of navigation beyond Celilo. Until a change in the weather, the channel of the Upper Columbia can confidently be expected to remain open to navigation.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The second quarter of the public schools of the city will close on the 6th of next month. The usual quarterly examinations will be held of the studies pursued. At the close of the present quarter, no vacation will be given. The new quarter will commence on the 9th of December. A vacation, probably of two weeks, will be given, commencing on the 24th of next month, and extending through the holidays.

PORTLAND ACADEMY AND FEMALE SEMINARY. The first term of the present Academical year will close on Friday next with a written examination. The papers will be preserved and the standings recorded for reference. The school has been remarkably pleasant and prosperous. The second term will commence on Monday, November 25th.

TAKEN DOWN.—The ship Zouave was towed down the river yesterday afternoon. That vessel is drawing so much water now as it was deemed safe to attempt to pass the mouth of the Willamet. She has received not more than half enough cargo, and will be taken to some point down the Columbia and the remainder of her load be taken down from here in river steamers.

NUMBER OF ARRESTS.—There have been 93 arrests—State and city cases included—made thus far the present month. This is an average of four and a fraction arrests a day.

NEW VAULT.—The new vault at the steamship company's office is nearly completed. The masonry and iron work is finished, and nothing remains further to be done than the adding of the bolts required to secure the door, combination lock, etc. The vault will be ready to receive its valuable contents by to-morrow evening.

NEW ENGINES.—The Oregon Iron Works of this city are now turning out a pair of powerful engines for a new steamboat building above the Cascades for the Oregon Steam Navigation Company. The engines are of seven foot stroke, with cylindors of twenty inches bore. The new steamer is to be ready for the spring trade.

FROM THE ISLANDS.—Captain N. L. Rogers, of the little brigantine Pathfinder, telegraphed yesterday from San Francisco that the brig had arrived there from Honolulu. The Pathfinder sailed from this port about two months ago for the islands. She has probably brought a cargo to San Francisco instead of Portland.

BROUGHT DOWN.—A small donkey engine and boiler were brought to the depot yesterday, from the front on the west side road. The engine has been engaged during the past season along the line in operating a pile driver. As work has suspended for the present, the machinery was brought to the city for some purpose.

MISSIONARY TOUR.—Rev. J. F. Anderson, pastor of the A. M. E. Zion Church of Portland, will preach on next Sabbath in Salem. During the following week he will visit Albany, Corvallis and Eugene City, preaching at each place an opportunity offers.

DETAINED.—The steamer Josie McNear did not reach her wharf last night until a late hour in consequence of having to discharge a quantity of freight at Humo's fishery. She took on board a quantity of salmon, which caused additional delay.

HOOP POLES.—The steamer Vancouver brought over yesterday 1,200 bundles of hoop poles. These hoops were placed on board the San Francisco steamer and will be shipped below.

NO COURT.—In consequence of the Circuit Court adjourning yesterday until to morrow morning, there will be no proceedings to-day.

UNTIL TUESDAY.—The grand jury in the Circuit Court were discharged yesterday by the Judge until next Tuesday morning.

INDICTMENTS.—The grand jury presented four indictments to the Circuit Court yesterday.

AMUSEMENTS.

The social ball given last evening at the Armory Hall by the members of Cleanthe Grove, No. 4, U. A. O. D., was very well attended. The occasion proved a very enjoyable affair to all who attended.

Willamette Hose Co. No. 1., will be tendered a grand complimentary benefit this evening at Oro Fino Theater. The sensational drama of "Detective" will be rendered especially for the occasion. In the grand fire scene at the conclusion of the piece, all the members of the Hose Company will appear on the stage in full uniform. The evening's entertainment will close with a grand interlude, to consist of songs, dances, recitations etc., by some leading amateurs. A capital bill will be offered the public.

The standard sensation drama of Colleen Bawn, drew only a fair house last night, but was played in very good style by the Waldron troupe. In fact the zest with which the audience relished the rendition of this piece, seemed very encouraging to the performers, who all did their best to please. We would again call attention of our people to the expediency of extending a more liberal patronage to Mr. Waldron in his efforts to furnish them with legitimate amusement of a dramatic character. Mr. W. is willing to do all in his power in this line, if the people will only second his efforts.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

The grand jury have found indictments against the following persons, and the cases yet remain to be tried in the Circuit Court at its present term.

State vs E. J. Taylor and Sarah Washburne; lewd cohabitation.

State vs H. Fridagh; concealing stolen property.

State vs Wm. Ryan; larceny.

State vs China Mol; larceny in a store.

State vs China Tin; assault with a dangerous weapon.

State vs Fritz Miller; keeping a saloon open on Sunday.

State vs China Charlie; larceny.

State vs Ah Gong; larceny.

State vs Jacob Williams; perjury.

State vs Harry Humphrey; assault with intent to commit rape.

State vs James Turk; assault with a dangerous weapon.

State vs Thomas Tice; assault with a dangerous weapon.

State vs J. McGinty; maintaining a nuisance.

State vs J. T. Haro and Carrie A. Geller; illicit cohabitation.

State vs Henry Garling and J. P. Olino; maintaining a nuisance.

PERSONAL.

J. S. Kincaid, of the Eugene Journal, is in the city, and favored us with a call yesterday.

Ex-Governor Salomon, of Washington Territory, left this city for his home in Olympia yesterday.

Col. James Gamble, Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, has returned to this city from his visit north.

Mrs. A. J. Duniway will deliver a lecture at Oro Fino Theater next Sunday evening. Her subject on that occasion will be "The Christ of Nazareth, and the Christ of Christendom." The lecture on Sunday evening will be the first of a course.

Sunburn has forsaken us, and winter with its chilly winds and freezing blasts has given us the first notice of its presence, and we have begun to prepare for its rigors. Gentlemen desiring to be clad seasonably now have the opportunity of procuring winter suits or garments, either ready made or put up to order, in a style that cannot be excelled in any respect. The stock at Fichet & Roberts' is so large that little trouble is experienced in selecting clothing. The sales of overcoats the past few days have been large, and the rush continues. Prices favorable.

IT IS AN ESTABLISHED FACT that Consumption can be cured; but it is far better to prevent the cruel disease from fastening itself on the system, by the timely use of a remedy like Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. This standard preparation will speedily cure a cough or cold, and even Consumption often yields to its great power.

To protect the understandings of humanity, nothing there's like leather fastened together by CABLE SCREW WIRE. Boots and Shoes made in this way never rip, crack, or come apart.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Steamer day.

County Court to-morrow.

Days and nights are foggy.

Firemen's benefit this evening.

Clams plenty—prices rule high.

Thanksgiving day next Thursday.

Hay still rolls in from the country.

The Hose boys of No. 1 benefit to-night.

Back streets are getting good and muddy.

Motion day in the Circuit Court to-morrow.

Many butchers are smoking beef and hams.

North Fourth street is being rapidly planked.

Unpaid election bets should go to the relief of Boston.

Steamship Company's wharf presents a lively appearance.

The man with the organ has absented himself to other parts.

The frame for the Street Railway Company's stable is raised.

Fall crops about all in. Farming operations will soon cease.

A freight car on the east side road is worth $40 a day to the company.

One hundred sacks of good potatoes were brought over from Vancouver yesterday.

Good time for chicken thieves; plenty of stray fowls running about the wharves.

A flag-staff was raised yesterday from the summit of the new Custom House dome.

Now is the time to make sour kraut—cabbage arriving in great abundance in all directions.

One year ago yesterday the first piles were driven for the foundation of the Clarendon Hotel.

The nimble and clever digits of the burglars no longer trouble door knobs and window sashes.

Open till 8 P. M.—Reed, Wolfe, Fargo & Co.'s office will be kept open until eight in the evening.

A new patent gas burner, lately adopted by the Common Council, has been attached to the street lamps of the city.

Material improvements are being made to the appearance of North Second street at and near its intersection with F.

Be sure you get your mail for steamer in either the Express office or Postoffice at least 45 minutes before time of sailing.

The question that now agitates us is: Will Boston publish any books about her fire. Spare, oh! spare us this infliction.

Topeka, Kansas, has thirty three saloons. Keep on and you will soon rank with Portland in this particular branch of business.

A fellow with only the form of a man and the instincts of a brute, was arrested yesterday by the police on a charge of maltreating his wife.

The river pilots do not desire to pilot large vessels through the narrow channels in Wallamet between this city and the Columbia on dark nights.

One of the late Eastern periodicals contains a highly sensational cut representing (?) the throwing of the "Roman Maidens" by their "fiery steeds, while riding in Wilson's Circus, in this city.

The vessels already gone and those about to leave for Europe, are loaded with wheat. The broad thus cast afloat will return to us again in the shape of goods of fine texture and rare workmanship.

FASHIONABLE NOTES.

Opera hats are now made mostly of satin.

Pale amber is the fashionable color in kid gloves.

A watch chain and locket are out of place for full dress.

Neckties of very gay colors are once more fashionable.

Large pearls are the correct thing in shirt studs for full dress.

Gentlemen's dress vests are very much embroidered this season.

New York belles complain that the young men of that city no longer make calls.

Ladies in deep mourning lighten their grief by wearing pearl buttons on their dresses.

Ladies' umbrellas are now made with a gilt ring on the ferule to fasten to the waist belt.

It is said that long, gray, belted in Ulster overcoats will be much worn on the streets this winter.

Castor gloves are now considered the proper thing for gentlemen's walking dress; undressed kid for ladies.

Roman scarf pashes continue to be highly fashionable, and young ladies just from Paris tell us they are all the rage.

Many of our young ladies who import their costumes from Paris declare that they get them cheaper than they can have them made here.

Light blue swallow coats with brass buttons, are affected by "thoroughbreds," and are something novel out of the beaten track of sombre black.

For dress suits, black embroidered vests, of beautiful workmanship, are in vogue. For black pants embroidery down the sides is spoken of, but not as yet much used.

A young lady has just learned that a style of bonnets worn years ago was called "kiss-me-quick," and she can't understand why they were suffered to go out of fashion.

"Candy pulls" have lately been adopted by New York hostesses in search of a new sensation in the way of entertainment. The idea is certainly a novel one in New York.

From across the "big pond" comes the startling intelligence that for next season we are to have light colored coats and vests and dark pants, thus reversing the present prevailing style.

Overcoats of knotted fine beaver, woven in straight lines, are made mostly in frock style and are patronized to a great extent by the "cud" trade. In Kersey and light colored beavers we have the most exquisite shades, which are made up largely in sacks.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

There is nothing certain in this world but uncertainty. Life is precarious, and property is not exempt from the mutations incident to this changeful world. Destructive fires on land and marine disasters are almost every day occurrences. There are no means of positive safety but by insuring your property against such dreadful losses. When you contemplate taking such a wise course don't fail to read Mr. George D. Grant's advertisement in our columns. Mr. Grant is manager of the Oregon branch of the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company, and his office is in Cree's building, Stark street, between Front and First.

Be on the Safe Side.
We hold health and life by a frail tenure, and not to protect them to the best of our ability would seem to argue a deficiency of common sense. The searching winds and cold rains of spring, the tropic heat of summer, the malarious vapors of autumn, and the paralyzing temperature of winter, are all inimicable to those finely adjusted and sensitive pieces of mechanism we call our bodies. Each season has its peculiar perils, and the fall is perhaps as prolific of dangerous disorders as any of them; for at this season fevers and bowel complaints are very apt to take an epidemic form. As a preventive of this class of diseases, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters cannot be too warmly recommended. In it are combined five essential medical properties: It is a tonic, at once powerful and wholesome; a stimulant, pure and undefiled; an aperient, mild and painless; an anti-bilious agent of marvellous efficacy, and a general regulating medicine without an equal in the pharmacopœia. These five distinct properties, operating together to perfect harmony, produce a condition of the system somewhat analogous to that brought about by a course of pugilistic training. In other words, as judicious physical training hardens the flesh and renders it comparatively fat-proof, so does this marvellous invigorant increase the capability of the organs of the body to resist the more indirect and insidious assaults of disease. It imparts new elasticity and strength to the vital machinery, and those who use it as a preventive of intermittent fever, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, rheumatism, and other ailments common at this season, may walk fearless through an atmosphere impregnated with the morbid elements which give rise to those maladies.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the shoot-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Lincoln and Seward.

[From the Boston Journal.]

Just before Mr. Seward handed over the Department of State to the Premier of Gen. Grant's administration, I called on the Secretary at his official residence. He was in fine health and spirits, and spent an hour in chatty conversation. President Lincoln being the subject of the talk Mr Lincoln, he said, carried with him through his whole career as President, the simple habits which marked him in his law practice in Springfield. If he wanted anything of the Department, instead of ringing the bell and calling a messenger he would take his hat and run around from one office to another, just as one lawyer would run around to the office of a brother practitioner. It missed at night those in the secret could track him from place to place and be sure to come up with the President in some one of his favorite haunts. He saw no reason why he should not enjoy himself as President as well as when he was a plain Abrahnm Lincoln. The President had the utmost horrors of forms and red tape. He did not care how things were done providing they were done. Adjutant General Thomas was sent out to relieve General Grant. Before he had a chance to serve his papers Vicksburg surrendered and Thomas did not dare disturb matters, so he came to make his peace with the President for as a soldier—and in time of war—he had violated orders. He sent a friend to sound the President on his return to Washington. The President was delighted with the surrender. Rubbing his hands he said, "Tell Thomas to come in. He did just right. He ought to have been shot if he had obeyed orders."

One day a lady came to Mr. Seward's office and handed him a scrap of paper on which was scribbled a few lines. The purport of the note was "Let this woman have $100 on account of the Secret Service Fund, and send her on her mission." The note was signed A. D. It is well known that Congress votes the President from $50,000 to $100,000 yearly as a Secret Service Fund. Of this the Secretary of State is the custodian. He must countersign the President's order or not a dollar of the fund can be used. But after the President receives the money nobody can inquire what he does with it. Mr. Seward inquired of the woman what secret service she was to perform that would justify his paying her $100. "Well, she was going to England to create a public sentiment there in favor of our country." The case was what Mr. Seward supposed. The woman had been hanging round the White House, bothering the life out of the President, and to get rid of her he proposed to give her $100. "I can give you no money for such a purpose," said the Secretary of State. "Your services are worth nothing. In London you would be a damage and not a benefit to us. I can't throw away the people's money in that fashion for you." The lady was not only indignant, but astonished. "So you refuse to obey the President's order?" "I do." "And you are a greater man than Mr. Lincoln; and when he says let me have $100 of his own money, you say I shan't have it?" "Well, Madam, if the President wants to give you $100 out of his own salary, he has a perfect right to do it. But you can have no money out of the Secret Service Fund for such a Tom Fool's errand as you are starting on." "Give me my papers, sir, if you please," said the excited lady, and off she started to find the President. Mr. Lincoln groaned as she crossed the threshold. "Well, what now?" "Mr. Seward won't give me the money," and she told her story. "Well, Madam," said the President, "I can do no more for you. I told you I had very little influence with the Administration."

Mrs Horace Greeley.

Mrs. Greeley had been steadily sinking since her removal from her rural home at Chappaqua to New York city a few weeks since. Her symptoms had become so alarming the last four or five days that her friends were prepared for her demise at almost any hour. Her stricken husband and assiduous eldest daughter had been constantly at her side, and about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning she quietly breathed her last. There was never a more peaceful, painless death than this which has terminated the fifteen or eighteen years suffering of this much-enduring invalid. At the hour of dissolution, she lay in a light, gentle slumber; and so noiseless was the tread of the summoning angel that the two lady friends who were watching with her, and whose eyes rested on her at the time, did not perceive the change. The poor sufferer passed, without a pang or a struggle, from the sweet repose of sleep to the everlasting repose of death. The wasted form lies with a gentle smile upon its features, which attests the merciful ease with which she was permitted to pass through the dark portal, as if a pitying Providence had relented at the supreme hour and permitted her spirit to pass gently to its final rest after so many years of weakness and pain.

Mrs. Greeley was a remarkable woman. Her character was as original and as strongly marked as that of her husband, but of a widely different type. She was of a fine, delicate, sensitive, nervous organization, whose susceptibility had been increased by many years of physical infirmity. She was of a slight fragile make, and before disease and time had set their effacing marks, she must have had great personal beauty. The vivacity which her features were formed to express remained to the last, and continued to be manifest through dark eyes of singular info and brilliancy, which, in the animated conversations with friends which seemed to form her chief pleasure, were alternately lighted up with deep earnestness and playful humor. She was a woman of a very intense nature of acute perceptions, and the strength of conviction on a wide range of moral and social subjects characteristic of minds of perfect independence, which, instead of servilely accepting current conventionalities, question them and judge them. She was one of those rare woman who do not look at things through other people's eyes, but through their own, and by whom formulas, religious or social, are not accepted as a substitute for living faith and personal conviction. Her intellect was remarkably quick, fertile, clear and ingenious; and if the pulmonary malady of which she had been for nearly twenty years the victim had not dampened effort, she would have been distinguished as one of the leading spirits of her sex. If the keen observations on life and society which so readily came to her tongue in unrestrained conversations with her friends had found expression through her pen and gone into literature, she would ranked as one of the most gifted female authors of the period. We attribute her lively interest and ardent belief in the so-called spiritual manifestations to her peculiarly susceptible nervous organization; but her affluent command of ingenious social and spiritual analogies in their defense did not come from sensitive nerves, but from a singularly gifted intellect.

Mrs. Greeley was a devoted mother, and perhaps regretted her infirm health more because it interfered with the duties she owed to her daughter than on any other ground. In the early years of her marriage while her husband was yet combating debt and poverty, she was absorbed in domestic cares; and after he had emerged into easy circumstances, she was too much an invalid to assume that position in a wider and more varied life to which she seemed called by her mental endowment and powers of conversation.

Important to Business Men.

An Eastern exchange has the following:

The case of S. P. Brown against John M. Jolly, Cashier of the Richland National Bank, of Ohio, now before the Supreme Court of the United States from the Courts of this District, presents the question whether the endorsee of a note, not being the actual owner of the fund, can maintain a suit in his own name. Brown gave two notes to one Grimes and another to Mrs. Jamison. The Grimes notes were endorsed over to the Cashier of the Richland Bank, were discounted by the bank, and became its property. The Jamison note was endorsed over to Grimes, and by him endorsed over to Jolly, as Cashier, only for collection. Suit being brought on the notes by Jolly, the defense was that, no being the party in interest, he could not maintain the suit, that the bank, in respect of the Grimes notes, and Grimes in respect of the Jamison note, were the proper parties to bring suits for collection. The judgment was for the plaintiff, the Court refusing to charge as requested by the defendant, and charging the contrary, and this writ of error is brought to review the ruling and judgment. The defendant here asserts that the writ of error is brought for delay only, that the law of the case is well settled as against the drawer of the notes. The Court at once affirmed the judgment below.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

FRIDAY EVENING, Nov 21, 1872

Gold in New York to-day, 113¾.

Bonds, 6's 111¾; 67's 114¾.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 87½c buying; 88½c selling.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average, 12s 6d@12s 8d, Club, 13s@13s 3d

The demand for funds for legitimate trade is strong and steady—considerably exceeding the ability of our capitalists to supply. Rates of interest have undergone no visible change, though the many devices by which men seek to accommodate their customers with cash at a profit greater than the legal rate must generally keep this subject concealed from public notice, and it is a difficult matter to tell what the ruling rate of interest is, as many of the transactions under this head are between private individuals, neither party, of course, being disposed to break the bond of secrecy existing between the borrower and the lender. The New York Stockholder entertains the opinion that raising of the minimum rate of discount by the Bank of England to 7 per cent was done to stop exports of gold to this country. No doubt the enormous amount of coin and bullion locked up in the various banks and Government treasuries of Europe have had a strong bearing on the markets of the whole world. The enormous amount of five hundred and thirty millions retired from the channels of business and lying idle in bank vaults, exclusive of what the Government treasuries contain, must inevitably cripple commerce and exercise a depressing effect on all lines of business. Germany set the example of locking and it has been closely followed by other Governments, probably as a means of self defense. Poor money in Germany makes dear money in England which in turn makes dear money all over Europe. Beyond doubt the Bank of England has been forced to raise its rate by the hoarding policy of the German Empire, which is being followed by other Governments taking money from the channels of commerce as a safeguard against the contingencies or possibilities of war. What effect it will have upon the coin resources of this country remains to be seen, but it can scarcely fail to raise the price of interest here, or drain away our gold, unless the German Government sees fit to relax its grip upon hoarded millions.

Our National credit is now as high, or higher, than that of any government in the world, to which condition it has attained, as is justly remarked by an Eastern journal, by a thorough collection of taxes, the success of which is indicated by the fact, that the same laws have yielded forty seven per cent, more under the existing, than under the previous Administration, and the steady reduction of the National Debt to the extent of three hundred and fifty millions within the past three and a half years, together with the lifting of taxation equal to one hundred and fifty millions per annum. To this plain, simple and upright policy is due the high standard to which the United States credit has attained in so short a time.

Produce Market.

During the week ending to-day our produce market has been remarkably quiet, and transactions have been limited to small sales. Prices have generally ruled steady, and the few changes noted are generally of slight advance upon a few commodities

Wheat has fallen off in receipts, the aggregate coming to hand being much less than either of several weeks previous. Transactions in the interior have also declined in amount of purchases, principally owing to the manifest disposition on the part of farmers to hold off for higher prices. The uncertainty which has seemed to pervade nearly all branches of trade, since the Boston fire especially, has affected the Wheat market also, and exporters seem to think that profitable shipping of this staple cannot be made under existing circumstances, and are the reform rather disinclined to make bids for charters. Shippers generally seem equally as backward to buy as producers to sell. Occasionally we hear of lots changing hands, but no news of large transactions have reached us during the week. The Liverpool market to-day is quoted at an advance of 2d per cental. The San Francisco market, like our own, is unchanged, $1 55@1 60 prevailing there and $1 40 here. The Red Rover cleared during the week with 17,442 sks, weighing 22,000 centals. The Cremmore will complete loading Saturday. The Zouave is on the berth and will have quick dispatch. She will be followed by the Nasworth, which will also have quick dispatch.

The Flour market is weaker, and though the demand for local consumption has been good, and a limited requirement for export has existed, rates show a downward tendency. Shipments during the week have been made of 2,000 bbls to San Francisco, and as much more to Puget Sound ports. We note another deal so in the San Francisco market since our last review. The San Francisco market is quoted in jobbing lots at $4 75@5 25 ₱ bbl for extra, and $4 25@4 50 for choice country, and outside brands $3 75@4 ₱ bbl. Our market is quoted in jobbing lots as follows: Extra of Standard brands $5 ₱ bbl, choice country $4 25@4 75, and for outside and superfine $3 75@4 ₱ bbl.

The demand for Oats is better, and considerable quantities have been received during the past three or four days, and are now in store for export and the local trade. Our home market has slightly advanced, and is now quotable firm at $1 50 ₱ 100 lbs, sacks included.

Hay is in fair demand, with free receipts, at 8.5@20 ₱ ton. Feed is firm at our quotations, which are, for Bran, $15@18 ₱ ton, and for Chops and Middlings $24@32 50.

Onions have fallen in receipts and prices are firmer, selling now at 1½@2 cts. ₱ lb.

Potatoes sale a little higher; choice Varieties being quoted at 85c@$1 ₱ 100 lbs

Butter of a good quality is quoted nominal, there being but very little in the market. Upon an inferior article rates are unchanged. Of this the supply is abundant.

Cheese is in liberal supply, with prices ruling at the figures last given

Eggs have been scarce during the week, but within a day or two large receipts have tended to weaken the price, which is given at 50c. ₱ dozen.

A full supply of Poultry is in market, and Chickens rule at $4@5 ₱ dozen; Turkeys $15@18, Ducks $5@6 50; Geese $10@11.

Meats are in demand at 6@10c for Beef, Pork, dressed, 6c; Sheep $3@4 ₱ head.

Hides are going at 15@16c for dry, and 7 for salted.

Receipts fair.

Apples are in sufficient receipt to supply the demand, which appears limited. Quotations are made at 75c@$1 ₱ box

Dry Goods Trade.

Dry Goods have been fairly active during the week without any large transactions, and the market has been quite steady. The only changes noted are in goods the price of which is supposed to have been affected by the losses of large quantities at Boston. Reliable information, however, induces us to believe that the prices of these will settle down to former rates.

Markets.

Potatoes—800 sks Bodega sold yesterday at $1 50. Large receipts of Humboldt yesterday.

Dairy Products—Prices without change
